

One's destination is never a place but rather a new way of looking at things.

Henry Miller